

I learned about the history of instrument as well as the history of Hawaii and the band Kahuna. The steel guitar player said that the steel guitar was created by a boy who liked to make steel cones, one day he accidentally dropped the steel cone on the guitar and it made an interesting sound. This is how the steel guitar was created. The ukulele was brought over by the Portugals and adopted by the Hawaiians. The Spaniards brought over the guitar to the Hawaiians. I really enjoyed that the band added a touch of Jazz to the Hawaii music. Because their music was so different and unique they were nominated for a "Hawaii Grammy." I really liked their performance and enjoyed their version of the Hawaii music.